THUNDER

HALF NORSE GOD. HALF CANADIAN. SUPER POLITE.

Half-mortal, half Norse God, Devon Wells returns home to Canada after a youth spent in Asgard and steps onto the path to becoming a hero.

Hello and welcome to the second edition of THUNDER #2!

I'd like to thank the indie comics community for being some of the most supportive creative people out there-- it takes a village, as they say, and the more we share and support each other the more fantastic Canadian independent comics we can bring to all of you!

To those of you just joining us:

WHAM! Out of nowhere, Thunder finds himself in a battle for his... life? In the middle of downtown Vancouver, no less! The mysteriously-aggressive Korun seems to have a bone to pick with our hero... and Code Monkey resurfaces, armed with Thunder's secret identity! It's all in this issue!

"So there I was, minding my own business."

"It had been a pretty rough day already."

"And then this guy comes out of nowhere."

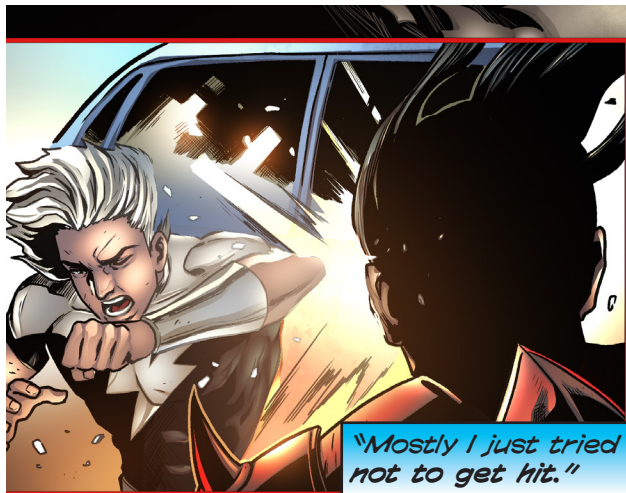

"Picked a fight with me. Just like that."

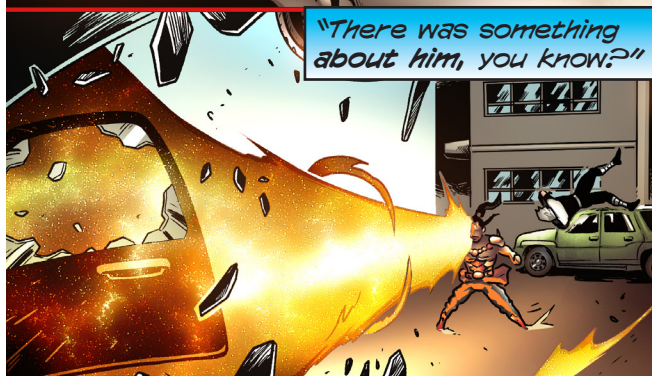

"It was like he found me personally offensive in some way."

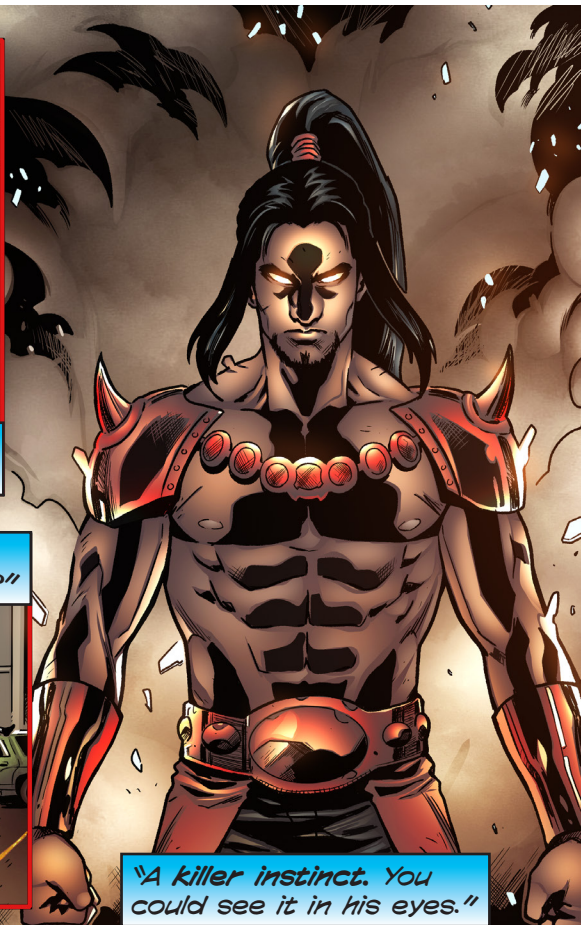

"What did you do?"

"Mostly I just tried not to get hit."

"There was something about him, you know?"

"A killer instinct. You could see it in his eyes."

"Were you afraid of him?"

"Terrified."

"Did you recognize him from anywhere?"

"No..."
